The right clientele

The hotel vouchers are sold to companies for employee motivation and customer loyalty. The gift recipients use these hotel vouchers to book the desired special offers on www.greenhabitat.at.

Guests present a reservation confirmation at check-in. The price for the Special Offer and other consumed services are paid directly at the hotel.

Guests are informed about special offers and news from the hotels in regular newsletters. Take advantage of this opportunity to cushion fluctuations in occupancy.

How to book

Guests send a booking request to your hotel via our website. This request will be sent to you by e-mail. In this email you have the option to accept the booking with one click. The guest automatically receives a booking confirmation. Or you can reject the request with one click and inform the guest of alternative travel dates if desired. This communication is handled by the Green Habitat system. For this you will receive your own back office access with password. With the chat function in the back office, you can communicate easily with the guest.
